BELLE GLADE SEWERAGE AND INCINERATOR REFERENDUM IS TUESDAY, MAY 21

City Council Will Study Two Methods Of Water Finance

The Belle Glade Commission was presented with two financing plans for their water improvement bond issue Wednesday night by H. C. Hodge, representative from B. J. Van Ingen, the city's fiscal agent.

They also turned down a request for expansion of the city park shelter and refused to accept the resignation of two recreation committee members.

Hodge told the commission that the city was not in a position to sell bonds and recommended certain actions which would put them in a more favorable light.

He said two outstanding bond issues should be retired and their third bond issue $100,000 should be made a first issue.

He presented the council with two amortization plans. One would give the city more money for water improvement and would pay out by 1962, the other a lesser amount to be paid out by 1967.

The matter was tabled until May 22 when the council will give Hodge a final answer.

Mrs. C. W. McDonald, City Park Director, requested that the park recreation program last year and a similar number was expected this year. At least $2,500 will be needed.

City Manager Clarence Robinson said there wasn't enough in the present budget to allow the given time to study the problem.

Mayor Z. T. Ingram related another item until the swimming pools are built.

JOB and WORKER

J. W. Mosley, Jr., Representative Florida State Employment Service

Trials & Tribulations... It always happens! Just when things are running as smooth as they have ever run before and you are congratulating yourself on an effective job well done, merry can break loose. On Tuesday of this week ever grower in Pahokee and Belle Glade needed every bean worker he could get from a radius of one hundred miles.

On Wednesday a combination of market and picking conditions caused over half of the growers in this area to stop harvesting for a day or two. The word was received too late to haul crops of workers coming into Belle Glade and we had crews of bean workers stuck ten deep for almost a week as you could see. They started the tough job of contacting ever grower in the Glades.

55ES Says Employ Grads In Glades

Forty-three young men and women who will graduate from Glades high schools will enter the labor market in June and will be seeking permanent jobs according to Lee L. Smith, manager of the Florida State Employment Service in Belle Glade, applications currently on file indicate that the young graduates will be seeking work as clerks, typist, automobile mechanic helpers, scientific aides, electrician helpers and as assistants in various other fields.

Finding jobs that will be the desired result of a program that the Employment Service has carried on in cooperation with the high school in vocational guidance and counseling for prospective graduates.

"The high school graduates offer a labor pool of new blood to this area," Smith said, "and every business needs new blood, young people adaptable to the work, and interested in it."

"They need the type of workers who can learn the ropes and become more valuable to the employers as they gain experience."

County Agent Says Tick Problem Over

Palm Beach cattlemen have little to fear about the discovery of cattle ticks near Okeechobee last week says H. L. Speer, assistant county agent.

"The situation remains about the same," Speer said this week. "It will be one or two months before there will be any real information available."

It was learned that up to Wednesday of this week no ticks were found in Palm Beach County. Cattle which were bought at Lake Catt Company near Okeechobee are being inspected on each ranch in this area.

"With the exception of the annoyance, I don't think we have any serious problem," Speer commented.

By annoyance, Speer referred to the fact that cattle were being "scratched" or "combed" to find ticks and as an added precaution they were being sprayed.

He said that the ticks were waterlogged and sprayed, cattle (Continued on Page Eight)

Serious Damage Is Reported To Glades Produce Harvesting

Reports of crop conditions in the Glades this week range from "horrible" to "deplorable" according to produce officials, the assistant county agent and the market news service.

One thing certain is that the rains damaged the crops; however, the full extent of damage cannot be assessed now. Hail was reported in some areas last Sunday. Corn blight is rampant and severe. Water-logged with rotten ends. Insects presented a serious problem and the fields were too muddy for full scale harvesting.

"Despite all this there are quite a few items yet to be harvested," according to Fred Tuttle, Federal-State Market News Service manager here, supplies of beans, celery and corn were moderate; all other items light.

Prices range good for radishes and moderate on celery, corn and leaf items while most other items ranged lower.

The movement by rail and truck this week was 178 carlots.

Mooney and Sharpe Address Chamber

J. E. Mooney and Captain N. W. Sharpe were guest speakers at the regular dinner meeting Tuesday of the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

Mooney, assistant to the manager of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, extended an invitation to all chamber members to attend a clinic sponsored by the U. S. Chamber at Fort Lauderdale May 21. The meeting will be for lay leaders of chambers of commerce.

He stated that three members of the U. S. Chamber would take active part in the clinic scheduled from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. at the Beach Club Hotel.

Mooney also made arrangements to meet with Dr. W. T. Forrester, Jr., chairman of the legislative committee of the local chamber for the latter part of the year.

Other members of the committee are Dr. R. Y. Creech, Jr. and Herbert D. Beck.

Captain Sharpe spoke about the Port of Palm Beach project to attract industry to Palm Beach County. He also offered the assistance of his committee to the local chamber to publicize this community as a site for industry.

Plans for an active, three-day membership campaign which will commence May 22 were made. Members of this committee will meet on the 22 to co-ordinate all details of the campaign.

It was announced that 160 members had been renewed by mail.

Migrant Education Pilot Project Is Being Completed

A three year study of the educational needs of agricultural migrant children comes to an end this month. Two meetings held last Friday were the final steps in the Glades schools' project.

Miss Elizabeth Sutton conducted the last meeting first at Lake Shore High School here in the afternoon and later last evening at Belle Glade High School.

Realizing that supplemental labor is a necessity and that it contributes to the economic status of any area, and that the educational needs of migrant children deserves special attention; a pilot project was set up through the school boards of Palm Beach County, Florida and Northampton County, Virginia.

Miss Elizabeth Sutton was named head of the project with Dr. Hazen Currey, professor of education at Florida State University, as consultant to the Glades committees.

Committees composed of principals and representative teachers from each school in the Glades were formed to find applicable methods of classroom procedure and instruction for migrant school children.

Plans call for a final report to be published and distributed not only to schools in this area; but to all states where the agriculture industry is affected by migrant labor.

Florida is among those states used in all phases of education; in other areas are Texas, California, Colorado, New York and other Atlantic seaboard states.

Principles devised through the three year study will be used in all phases of education; not just schools where migrants attend, for it was learned that these principles apply to all children in both negro and white.

Scientists Utilize Winter Crops To Hasten Control Of Destructive Corn Blight—Helminthosporium

Helminthosporium, a current plague of Glades sweet corn growers, which is as destructive as those of Biblical writings and accelerating to financial gain in the Mediterranean Fruit Fly and the fever tick, appears to have been effectively halted through scientific in-and-cross-breeding to produce highly resistant hybrid strains of sweet corn.

Since 1948 sweet corn has become a major element of the crops to lend glamor to Glades agriculture substance to the farmer's bank account, a gleam in the eye of credit managers, enthusiastic anticipation in reports of freight solicitors and exclamations of "Glory Be" in the planning of spray material manufacturers.

Along comes consistently intermittent rains and warm weather conducive to Helminthosporium (blight) which ravages crops of spring sweet corn and threatened the same eight million dollars income from the crop.

Scientists get busy, for this blight is not new, and since field corn as windbreaks and/or large acreages for cattle feed are growing year after year in the Glades, the spores of this fungus find hosts to carry them over from season to season.

In their search scientists inbred strains to develop characteristics desired in a blight-resistant plant and when near perfection was reached in the individuals, they were crossed with resistant hybrids. Thousands of operations of inbreeding and cross-breeding were carried on and many promising hybrids resulted.

The right combination and the propitious weather and cultural conditions have combined to give some most effective results and Glades farmers are offered these blight resistant varieties for next season's crops.

City Seeks $1,800,000 To Aid Future Expansion Here; Government Promises Grant

Again the sewerage and incinerator referendum has come to Belle Glade. This time there are plans, there are assurances, there are committees, there is hope, that this is what the city is looking for.

The referendum, or straw vote, will be held May 21 at Everglades Post 20 American Legion Hall on SW Avenue D. The polls will be open 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.

Bond Explanation Talks Are Planned

There is help coming for those who do not understand the sewerage bond referendum and for those who want more information, according to City Manager Clarence Robinson.

The City Manager's committee has been given the task of getting the information about the issue to everyone in the city through newspapers, radio announcements and house to house canvassing.

The committee will appear before every civic, fraternal and social organization in the city to explain the provisions of the issue to be decided May 21.

The committee is asking that all clubs go on record as favoring the issue after they have heard the explanation from the committee.

Following is a list of dates when the committee members will visit the organizations. If you are a member of any one of them, be sure to attend and learn the full story:

May 13, P.T.A. and Elks; May 14, Masonic lodge; May 15, 16, Jaycees, Civilian O.E.S.; May 17, Rotary.

On May 8 the Garden Club and Beta Sigma Phi were to have heard a speaker. A special meeting is also planned for chamber of commerce members. Anyone wishing more information may call Mr. Robinson at city hall.

PTA Installation Monday At 3:30 P. M.

Installation of officers of the Parents and Teachers Association will mark final meeting of the year, Monday afternoon at 3:30 in the High School auditorium.

Miss T. W. Wally county PTA president will be installing officer.

The Silver Belles octet will sing.

King And Queen Of May Preside Over Festivities

The federal government has put Belle Glade in the emergency class for aid and set up $207,550 to help pay for the massive project. The city is asking its citizenry if it should borrow $1,800,000 to complete the job.

This time the city faces three problems if it does not build a sewerage system: 1. A state board of health order to build a system in the next five to ten years. 2. The possibility of smoggy, desecrated, a disease caused by excessive filth. 3. A remote possibility of an embargo on vegetable shipments because of a lack of sanitation.

Plans call for the financing of the revenue bond issue on the basis of room units or multiples of room units. Four rooms of a house make a unit. City Manager Clarence Robinson says the maximum charge for a unit will be $5. Special consideration will be made for commercial users as determined by a census board which will be established if the referendum is voted favorably.

Certain considerations make the Belle Glade sewerage system cost more than other systems in cities of comparable size. The system must be built from the ground up, that is, there is no previous system on which to build. 2. No natural fall to the land requires that lift stations be built into all collection mains. 3. Sewer pipes must be anchored in rock so as not to float when the water table rises.

Certain considerations might make the $5 rate lower: 1. The maximum $5 rate would pay off the indebtedness without additional revenue from commercial users. 2. A municipal utility board will review the rate study each year. 3. A tax might be levied on undeveloped property which is serviced by the sewers.

Here are some other things you should know about the proposed system:

Close crowned his queen, Barbara Stone in their regal finery, and the 1st graders presented a Dutch Wooden Shoe Dance. The flower bearers bore baskets of beautiful flowers, typical of the way they carry them in Holland. bean crews working. Not all of them went to work but most of the growers bent over backwards to create jobs for the crews who had come so great a distance to work. Our hats are off to the growers and to the workers for keeping their heads during such an emergency and cooperating with the Florida State Employment Service in order to overcome a difficult situation.

New Faces — Within the next 30 days a large number of possible future citizens of Belle Glade will be graduating from our local high schools. They are getting ready to take their places in our several communities and are prepared to live the useful and productive lives of Glades citizens. They must be given an opportunity to prove their ability. Without them, the Glades will not grow.

Without them our progress will not be an accomplished fact. Now is the time for every employer to consider his business in terms of future expansion and to make room for at least one of these young persons who have spent the last twelve years preparing themselves for a place in productive society. Every time we lose a Glades grown high school graduate to another area, we take a step backward. If you have a job opening that you believe would be attractive for a high school graduate entering the labor market permanently, call us and we'll do our best to get the right and the bright young person for you.

TAILOR-MADE TO RESIST HELMINTHOSPORIUM BLIGHT

Florigold Hybrid Sweet Corn

Ferry-Morse Breeders have now developed a hybrid sweet corn that is highly tolerant to Helminthosporium turicum under severe conditions! Its name? Florigold.

Florigold's plants are about 6½ feet tall. It matures 3 days earlier than Golden Security. Ears have 14 to 16 rows of kernels, good tip fill, and are 7½" to 8½" long—just right for packing 5 dozen to a crate. Kernels are rich, medium light-gold, narrow, tender and medium deep.

Quality, kernel color and size combine to make Florigold an outstanding shipping corn. For additional information concerning field performance in Florida, contact our representatives in Tampa.

In addition 141 children received service during the month, 65 of whom were in foster homes. Service was also given to two runaway children. The total State and local cost for this child welfare service was $3,843.22.

Palm Beach County is represented on the District 10 Welfare Board by Mrs. Doris Sasser, Palatka; Mrs. Helen E. Toddler and Mrs. Helen D. Woodward, West Palm Beach, and Mrs.

Muriel H. Pick, Palm Beach. There were 5 adoption petitions studied for the Circuit Court. These are children placed in homes independent of service through a licensed child placement agency, and the Welfare Board is responsible according to law to make these reports to the court.

Market Agreement Sought For Cukes

A referendum to determine whether producers of Florida cucumbers favor the issuance of a proposed marketing agreement and order will be held May 13 through May 20, M. F. Miller, Lakeland, Florida, Field Representative of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, announced today. The program would authorize the Florida Cucumber Committee, consisting of producers and 4 handler members, to recommend to the Secretary of Agriculture grade size, quality, maturity, pack and container regulations.

Ballots and voting instructions will be mailed to all cucumber growers of record by your county agricultural agents. Any grower who fails to receive a ballot may secure one by contacting his county agricultural agent's office.

Voting will be by mail. To be eligible for counting, ballots must be in Mr. Miller's hands not later than May 20, 1957. All cucumber growers in Florida are urged to cast their ballots so that the results of the referendum will be truly representative. Under the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act, the Secretary of Agriculture may issue the order only if two-thirds of the growers voting, or two-thirds of the production voted, in the referendum favor the proposed program.

The order does not include specific grade, size, quality, maturity, pack, or container regulations, but merely sets the framework within which the Florida Cucumber Committee and the Secretary operate in recommending and issuing such specific regulations and in administering other provisions of the program.

Local Man Sought On Bond Jumping Charge

Local authorities announced this week that they are still searching for J. D. Cody, 20, of Belle Glade, wanted for violation of a $500 bond. The youth is believed to be somewhere in Tennessee now.

Charges of reckless driving, willfully and wantonly in violation with a wild driving spree here last month have been placed against him. Cody was fined by J. R. Cherry, A. P. court on one charge arising from that wild ride in which police shot the tires of Cody's auto before he was stopped.

Girl Of The Year Crowned Queen

BETA SIGMA PHI'S "Girl of the Year," Mrs. Lorena Connel, was crowned Queen of May by Mrs. J. E. Jones (r-l) last year's queen, at the Annual May Day Dance held at the Municipal Country Club. Looking on are Mrs. Earl Lindrose (l-r) a former queen and Mrs. Frank C. Anderson, Sorority president. Mrs. Connel will attend the annual state meeting May 24-25 in Miami where she will compete for state title of Beta Sigma Phi, Girl of the Year. Over 150 sorority members and guests were entertained at the outstanding social event of the season. Mrs. Milton Carpenter and her committee were in charge of arrangements.

Your Library

John DeFerrari, who started as a fruit peddler in Boston, gave $1,000,000 to the Boston Public Library because the helpful ideas he found in that institution helped him to become a multimillionaire. Public libraries are creative influences in the lives of millions of men and women and children.

"The Tribe That Lost Its Head" by Nicholas Nassar is one of the books our librarian, Mrs. Bettie Harris suggests for readers this week. This is a novel of thrilling and dangerous adventure. A vast shocking brilliant novel by the author of "The Cruel Sea". The sailing is an imaginary island of Pharamaul, just off southwest Africa, after a young, English-educated chief returned to rule over his people but found himself involved in an uprising against a hundred odd years of British colonial rule.

"Andersonville" of MacKinnon is another winner of the 1956 Pulitzer Prize for fiction. A major literary achievement this long carefully researched novel has been hailed as the greatest of our civil war novels. Among others is "Warrior" by Frank Slaughter. This book is about the swamplands and pine barrens of central Florida in 1835, the tense relations between the red men-under the leadership of the great Seminole war chief, Osceola — and the white settlers exploded into violence. The author has written in this book a powerful novel of passion and tragedy and has vividly brought to life a violent chapter in American history.

South Bay PTA Seals Officers

Jane Evans was installed as president; Esther Walker, vice-president; Edie Maxwell, secretary; Thelma Elfers, treasurer;

(Continued from Page One) Hence, this is an opportunity for many employers to recruit young people who have done serious thinking as to the kind of work they want to go into and have had counseling and aptitude testing to help them choose a vocation.

CITY SEEKS

(Continued from Page One) For coverage until the facility is made available to them. Construction of such a system might take two or three years. The cost of connecting from the house to the sewer will be borne by the consumer.

The Bank of Pahokee and Florida National Bank at Belle Glade both stated that home improvement loans for the purpose of connecting to the sewer can be made to persons who qualify. Everglades Federal Savings and Loan Company here assumed that they, too, could make money available for this purpose; however, no official confirmation has been received by press time.

On the other hand, consumers have nearly three years to save enough money for the connection.

All registered voters in the city are eligible to vote. A simple majority of those voting will pass the straw vote.

Belle Glade is the only city in the state with a population of over 5,000 which does not have a sign of a sewer.

The incinerator and treatment plants will be built near the North River Canal about one and one-half miles west of Shirley Brothers Ready-Mix Plant.

Prices on steers at the Glades Livestock Market Monday sale were strong this week with some going for $17 to $20. There was a strong demand for stocker classes according to George C. Young, market manager.

The state grader did not attend Monday's sale and a complete break-down was not given. The offering numbered 737 cattle selling for $61.25 to $75.00 with 75% of it going to slaughter. The break-down by classes was 65 calves, 48 yearlings, 122 heifers, 171 cows, 322 steers and nine bulls.

The goal of two-to-the-stalk appears to have been generally secured in these blight-resistant hybrids.

While Dr. Townsend has several hybrids that show remarkable resistance to the blight, in the trail plots at Belle Glade, only one of them has gone the prescribed route of trials at the present time so that seed is ready for distribution—Florida, the trade-named hybrid of Dick's client Ferry-Morse Seed Co.

The romance of agriculture is troubled with the fickleness of Nature, the uncertainty of American palates, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the economic ambitions of harvest hands, the Dave Beck's of organized labor in distribution and the dreams of farmers' families for automation in the home, synchropon on Saturday night and fluid drive on the road; BUT, with the aid of science, the antagonism of the Donkey for the Elephant in politics and a few investigation committees the farmer seems to get along—especially the Glades farmer.

Blights of nature and the blights of man make his lot a continuous fight, but he has less in the Glades, it seems, than elsewhere.

This milestone of progress, like that of the manganese, zinc and copper has been reached through work of Dick Townsend and his fellow scientists as represented by the Everglades Experiment Station and Florida's agricultural efforts in the research and educational fields.

COUNTY AGENT SAYS

(Continued from Page One) men could take their animals to the Glades Livestock Market where they would be dipped. It would not be possible to sell the cattle for slaughter or as a stock animal without worry about the ticks.

Speer also said that those ticks which were found did not carry cattle fever agents. He said one cattleman described the tick thusly: "It's like a gun that's not loaded. . . it can be dangerous, but it isn't."

will be added to the garbage collection fee of $1.50 to pay for the incinerator.

When sewerage is built, FHA and GI, as well as other types of lower home financing, will become available thus opening the door to the city's expansion.

With more people come more users for the sewers. Belle Glade is now growing at the rate of more than 12% (past two years) and it is expected that it will grow between 8% and 20% in the next year, depending on whether there are sewers or not.

The $ rate will bring in approximately $120,000 annually

TO PAY OFF THE REVENUE BONDS

in 30 years. City Manager Clarence Robinson said that this is more than enough.

It is not compulsory that a consumer hook up to the facilities; however, it is compulsory that they pay for it if it is made available to them.

CARD OF THANKS Our appreciation to our friends for the gifts, flowers, cards and the many kindnesses extended during the illness and confinement of our son, Jimmy. Your thoughtfulness meant so much to us.

TIME FOR CHOW—Cooking their supper at District Camporee are Boy Scouts (l-r) Lee Lanier, Tommy Close, Wayne Wood, Darryl Wood and in background Cecil Baldwin. In camping competition Belle Glade Troop 22 came in a close second to Pahokee, who won first place, with Clewiston 3rd.

Visitors To Camporee See Scouts In Action

Life in the outdoors was enjoyed by 91 Boy Scouts at the District Camporee recently held at Fishing Creek for two days, and was a huge success. All phases of scouting and activities were planned for parents and visitors who reported the event as highly entertaining, interesting and informative as to what scouting is and the outstanding work the leaders are doing.

Among the adults from Belle Glade who attended during the camporee were Floyd Rider, Herman Close, R. E. Shoemaker, Dr. and Mrs. J. Allen, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Bots and Kenneth Norris, and others from Pahokee and Clewiston, making a total of around 30. Activities were presented by the patrols with several going on at one time. Judges were Lloyd Hundley, Pahokee, R. E. Shoemaker, Belle Glade and the Gay Graham, Clewiston. The scores were very close with Pahokee, first, Belle Glade second and Clewiston, third. Points of the three troops were scored on attendance, appearance at check-in, camping, patrol organization, inspection at checkout and additional points for adult visitors. Leaders were Tommy Lanier, Troop 22, Jim Beardsley, Clewiston and Louis Mimms, Pahokee.

Local Pepper Plants Used In Parade Float

Belle Glade pepper plants used on a parade float for the city of Coolidge. Co. helped the float win first place in the Thomasville Rose Festival April 28 according to a letter received this week by the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce. G. M. Entekin, principal of the Coolidge Consolidated School wrote the chamber this week to thank them for their cooperation in finding the pepper and expressing it to that city. Mrs. Edwina C. Young, executive secretary of the local chamber said Lee Smith, employment service branch manager here, was instrumental in locating the plants. The plants were used in a tulip display, the letter states. Drive safely—A child at the curb is a human caution sign.

Mark Recital Well Attended

A capacity crowd attended the Frank Lee Mark recital presented at the Community Clubhouse, Tuesday night, April 30. The recital featured Mrs. J. Williams who opened the program with "Malaguena", next Jan Plumber, Pahokee, played "Chopin's Minute Waltz" and "Dizzy Fingers". The numbers were well received. Mrs. Williams was followed by Sharon Motes of Belle Glade playing "Dance of the Honey Bee" and "Benit Malaguena", and Ouida Lanier playing a delightful arrangement of "Autume Leaves". With the program half over and wonderfully received by an enthusiastic audience, Mrs. Williams was in the middle of Chopin's Waltz C Sharp Minor when the lights went out. Absolute silence reigned for a few minutes with the hopes the light would come on again, but it was apparent the lights were out all over town and something would have to be done. The proverbial phrase "The Show Must Go On" was clearly demonstrated when a couple of flashlights were put into use and the recital continued flawlessly. With one light pointing down at the keyboard which gave a unique effect as all that could be seen were hands traveling over the keyboard. Mrs. Williams finished her number. Next on the program was 10 year old Christine Kelly of Clewiston who played "Beethoven's Minuet" and "Nola". Mrs. Williams, an arrangement of "Tenderly", Miss Lanier, "Chopin's Fantasia Impromptu" and the final number "Chopin's Revolutionary Etude" played by Mrs. Williams who really did herself proud, playing flawlessly under the most trying circumstances.

The recital will long be remembered by the audience and the students who performed, like seasoned troupers, although for some of the students it was their first recital. The lights were still not on at the finish of the recital but the audience showed their appreciation with great applause and were very complimentary to the students.

Freedom Of Expression ---- Perversity And Thoughtlessness

SIGNS OF OUR TIMES — At the top is the engraved sign on the front of Tom Gaskins' museum near Fish-eating Creek, which tells the countryside about the man who has "Million Dollar Knees." The bottom picture shows the perversity of human nature — the pop bottle is unharmed while the "K" of the word "knee" has been shot away.

Tom Gaskins has "Million Dollar Knees" he says in signs made of branches of cypress trees and posted along US No. 27, both north and south of his museum just south of Fish-eating Creek.

Tom is the world's outstanding authority on cypress knees, at least until someone proves to the contrary. Tom is an outstanding individualist, and conducts his business according to his code.

came the State Road Department and built the new US No. 27 just between his museum and his shop, so that the visitor must cross this much-traveled highway to "get his money's worth."

Tom found that the cowboys, hunters and tourists liked to shoot at his attractive sign along the road, so he hung pop bottles on each to keep them from ruining his signs. Just for (sarcasm) and a lot of thoughtlessness, they still shoot away his signs.

It is a great country where Tom can not only say what he thinks in permanent signs, but DO just what he wants to do. It's not a bad country where cowboys, hunters and the general public can shoot up his signs and get a kick out of it. Those same folks would — and most of them probably have — fight for Tom's right to do what he's doing. IF THEY STOPPED TO THINK wouldn't ever shoot his signs again.

Stop by Tom's place and shake hands with AMERICAN who knows what he wants. You may not agree with him altogether, but you've got to admire him for his spunk, and for his accomplishments — Tom Gaskins' name will live as a symbol of principle and a connoisseur of "Million Dollar Knees."

Two Men Charged For Pahokee Crime

Two men have been bound over to criminal court in connection with the $17,000 Vandergrift-Williams Farms, Inc. robbery April 26 as the result of a hearing before Justice of the Peace R. T. Bardin at Pahokee Monday.

James Chandler, 28, of Homestead, was released on $10,000 bond after being charged with armed robbery. Ellick Chaney, 35, of Homestead, but a Pahokee resident for several years, was free on $10,000 bond after being charged with being an accessory before and after the fact to robbery.

An unidentified Miami woman, who is a material witness in the case, was also released after making a statement to county officials.

W. E. Blackwell, head bookkeeper for the produce firm, identified Chandler May 4 in a police line-up in West Palm Beach as the man who ordered him to open the company safe April 26.

Chaney was recognized late Friday night by a Belle Glade police officer as Chaney and Chandler passed through a roadblock on SR 15. Subsequent investigation by Pahokee police, made and Palm Beach County officers and the Belle Glade Police Department resulted in the apprehension of the two men with the unidentified woman Sunday.

A palm print lifted from the Vandergrift-Williams safe by Belle Glade Police Identification Officer Bill Mathis was alleged to be Chandler's.

It is believed that both men have police records.

Tomato Farmer & Packer Enjoined In Labor Suit
Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell has obtained an order in U. S. Court here prohibiting Di Giorgio Fruit Corporation, of Peters, from violating the child labor provisions of the Federal Wage and Hour Law. The order, signed by U. S. Judge Emmet C. Choate, was entered with the consent of the defendant. It was based upon a Labor Department complaint that the company had employed several minors under 16 years of age on its tomato farm.

The children were found by wage-hour investigators to be working during school hours for the defendant about the middle of January this year. Clem J. Denicke, field office supervisor of the Labor Department's Miami wage-hour office said the federal law allows employment of children under 16 on farms outside of school hours. In addition to prohibiting employment of children, the court order also directs the firm not to ship in commerce goods produced by children illegally employed.
